P R E F A C E

IN sending forth this seventh contribution to the history of the ancient parish of Westbury-on-Trym, and in some measure of Bristol,¹ I wish to express my gratitude for many public and private criticisms and suggestions received, some of which will be of great value, when the time comes for a full and accurate history to be written of a part, which now forms the largest residential portion of Bristol.

In reply to the too flattering wishes (expressed both privately and in the Press), that I would undertake such a history, I feel bound to reply, that even if the time and gifts were mine, the material for such a history is not yet to hand. This is clearly evident from the fact that in every history of this place, with which I am familiar, fuller knowledge of documents and of facts renders re-statements necessary or calls attention to the gaps existing in those histories.

It is a matter of the greatest regret to me, and doubtless to others, that the editing by the Worcestershire Historical Society of the Episcopal Registers of Worcester proceeds so slowly. At present only Bishop Giffard's Register (three volumes) and Registrum sede Vacante (five volumes) are obtainable, a small output for so many years, since the work was begun in 1893. As Westbury and Bristol, until the Reformation, formed part of the Diocese of Worcester, and the Bishops of Worcester took an active part in the affairs of those parts, it is highly probable, judging from the registers issued, that much interesting material would be gathered from those registers, and without which no accurate history can be compiled.

For any further criticisms and suggestions I shall be deeply grateful. I must claim the kind indulgence of my readers to my many shortcomings, as this work of preparation can only be done by me during scanty leisure, snatched from necessary study and the oversight of a large parish with four churches.

H. J. WILKINS.

“ Deem not devoid of elegance the wight
Who wastes o'er toils like these, his tapers light,
And distant from the noisy haunts of mirth,
Now dries his musty folios on the hearth ;
Now turns, with trembling touch his tatter'd store,
And sifts the sand to gain the golden ore ;
Nor small the joy, with eager eye to catch
Some clenching date, or prove some dubious match,
To solve each doubt, make stubborn facts agree ;
Untwist the linked bouts of Pedigree,
And, on a point where Garter's self might err,
Quote—fearless quote—the Parish Register.”

INTRODUCTION.

THIS register, hitherto unpublished, opens with the following statement :—

“Westbury upon Trim,
The Regester booke for the parishe abouesaide conteininge the names of all the weddinges christeninges and burienges there since the firste yere of the raigne of the late Queene
Elizabethe Anno Domini 1559

and Anthony Pruett gent
then churchwardens.”

Attention is thus at once drawn to the question of registration, a brief study of which will better enable this register to be understood.

Thomas Cromwell had been appointed by Henry VIII his Vicar-General in 1535 A.D. Cromwell's intentions in reference to the introduction of a system of registration, (after the manner obtaining among the Spanish clergy in the Low Countries, and with which his residence there had familiarised him,) must have been divulged and widely circulated, raising much hostile suspicion on the ground that the projected registration was simply a scheme for imposing additional taxation. This appears from one of the grievances, alleged by the rebels in the Pilgrimage of Grace in 1536 A.D., and which was “that there should be no wedding, burying, or christening without a tax of a noble.”¹

But it was not until three years subsequent to his appointment as Vicar-General, that Cromwell took any public step. Burns states: “The general dissolution of monasteries took place in the year 1536, and Cromwell being Visitor-General, must have been cognisant of the several books kept by these houses, and this will also appear by the articles which he exhibited at his visitations; it is therefore surprising that two years should elapse before any order upon the subject of registration was made.”² In 1538 A.D. he issued his famous injunction, as follows :—

“In the Name of God Amen. By the authorite and comission of the most excellent prince Henry by the grace of god kynge of Englonde and of frauce defensor of the faithe Lorde of Irelonde and in erthe supme hedd vnder Christ of the church of Englande I Thomas lorde Crumwell lorde privie

From this date it would appear that systematic registration in England must be dated.

Burns² states : “ But Marriages and Burials were recorded in churches long before the sixteenth century, not indeed in a Register specially provided for the purpose, but in the Missals and Psalters in use in the church.³ . . . In further support of the supposition of an order earlier than 1538, it must be remarked that there are actually registers commencing, or having entries, prior to 1538.” Here follow three pages of evidence.

Dr. J. Charles Cox⁴ states : “ There are, however, beyond doubt certain parochial registers which begin before 1538, but less than half the number named [i.e. forty] in the 1833 Blue Book. To account for this, it must be remembered, that there is a fair amount of evidence to show that some of the mediæval clergy of England were, at all events, in the habit of keeping fitful and informal registers, particularly of deaths, long before the sixteenth century.” Dr. Cox then proceeds to give what seems to the present writer to be, apart from a critical examination of the document cited, good evidence for his statement.

On the other hand, Mr. Burke⁵ states : “ From this year [i.e. 1538 A.D.] date the first original entries in parish registers ; for though some few isolated entries, purporting to belong to a prior period, are in existence, it is practically certain that all these will be found on examination to have been actually recorded after 1538."

Cromwell's injunction created much discontent, and to this three letters, addressed to him in 1539, bear witness. The one from Sir Piers Eggecomb ran :—

" Plesse it yur goode Lordeshyp to be advertyssed that the Kynggs Maiesty hath commandyd me at my beynge in hys graciis presens that in casse I parceyvyd any grugge or myscontentacyon a mongge hys sojectes I shulde ther off advertysse your Lordeshyp by my wrytyng. " P. EGGEOMB." ¹

A similar injunction to that of Cromwell was issued in 1547 (Ed. VI), with the exception that the penalty was to be paid into the poor-man's box of the parish.

In 1559 A.D. (I Eliz.) the same course was pursued, with the exception that the penalty was to be equally divided between the relief of the poor and the repair of the parish church. Burns states :—

" The keeping of a church book for the ages of those that should be born and christened in the parish began in the thirtieth year of King Henry the Eighth. And the following canon (70), in the main of it, was only a reinforcement of one of the Lord Cromwell's injunctions in the year 1538, which was continued in the year of the King Edward the Sixth, and of Queen Elizabeth, in whose reign, a protestation being appointed to be made by ministers at institution, one head of it was, I shall keep the register book according to the queen majesty's injunctions." ²

During this period the authorities of the Church did what they could to further proper registration, as will be seen from the visitation articles of the Archbishop of Canterbury in 1547 and of Cardinal Pole in 1555.

In 1563 a vain attempt was made by Parliament—its first intervention in this matter—to deal with the question by ordering the erection of “an office of registership to be kept in every diocese”; but the opposition of the clergy, who saw in it an invasion of their rights and privileges, caused the bill to be dropped.

In 1590 another attempt was made by Lord Treasurer Burleigh to arrange for registration according to counties, but through the influence of the Archbishop of Canterbury (John Whitgift) the progress of the measure appears to have been stopped.

Still, the two last-mentioned efforts paved the way for the Constitutions of Convocation, issued on October 25th, 1597, and also given under the Seal of Great Britain. Careful preservation of registers was directed (quorum permagnus usus est); parchment was to be used; the week's entries were to be read out at service on the Sunday following; each completed page of the register was to be signed at the foot by the minister and churchwardens, and a copy of the whole entries for the year was to be sent by the churchwardens to the diocesan registry not later than a month after Easter.¹

In 1603 (I James I) a similar order was made, and ran thus:—

“ In every Parish Church and Chapel within this Realm shall be provided one Parchment Book at the charge of the Parish wherein shall be written the day and year of every Christening Wedding and Burial which have been in that Parish since the time that the Law was first made in that behalf so far as the ancient Books can be procured but especially since the beginning of the Reign of the late Queen And for the safe keeping of the said Book the Churchwardens at the charge of the Parish shall provide one sure Coffer with three Locks and Keys whereof the one to remain with the Minister and the other two with the Churchwardens severally so that neither the Minister without the two Churchwardens nor the Churchwardens without the Minister

¹ These copies are known as the “Bishops,” transcripts, and a study of them and of their condition throws a lurid light upon the neglect and disobedience to order shown: in no single diocese are the transcripts complete, while the want of arrangement has been a constant source of invective against the responsible authorities. As regards Bristol the Report of the Committee (1833) runs thus:—

Diocese.	Number of Parishes Defective in return.	Whether Returns made be correct.
Bristol	443 at Bristol: one-fourth deficient.	More than 100 yearly incorrect.
Whether arranged.	Whether Alphabetical Lists prepared.	Whether fire-proof deposits, and where deposited.
Does not say	No; in part alphabetical list of names, but not places.	No; Bishop's-court, Bristol Cathedral, and room at registrar's dwelling-house.

We have yet to learn any improvement has taken place, for a gentleman, writing from a distance to the present writer on 5th Nov., 1909, states: “I wonder if any improvement has been made in the arrangement of the transcripts of Parish Registers to the Consistory Court attached to Bristol Cathedral? It was very bad when I searched there some years ago.”

shall at any time take that Book out of the said Coffer And henceforth upon every Sabbath Day immediately after Morning or Evening Prayer the Minister and Churchwardens shall take the Parchment Book out of the said Coffer and the Minister in the presence of the Churchwardens shall write and record in the said Book the names of all persons christened together with the names and surnames of their parents and also the names of all Persons married and buried in that Parish in the week before and the day and year of every such Christening Marriage and Burial And that done they shall lay up that Book in the Coffer as before And the Minister and Churchwardens unto every page of that Book when it shall be filled with such inscriptions shall subscribe their names And the Churchwardens shall once every year within one month after the five and twentieth day of March transmit unto the Bishop of the Diocese or his Chancellor a true copy of the names of all persons Christened Married or Buried in the Parish in the year before (ended the said five and twentieth day of March) and the certain days and months in which such Christening Marriage and Burial was had to be subscribed with the hands of the said Minister and Churchwardens to the end the same may faithfully be preserved in the Registry of the said Bishop which certificate shall be received without fee And if the Minister and Churchwardens shall be negligent in performance of anything herein contained it shall be lawful for the Bishop or his Chancellor to convert them and proceed against every of them as Contemnors of this our Constitution.”¹

The Civil War in the reign of Charles I caused much confusion and irregularity, but no special attention was given to the subject, excepting two endeavours in 1644.

Matters grew steadily worse, since religious confusion was super-added. In 1652 a Law Reform Committee was appointed, resulting in an Act being passed on 24th August, 1653, entitled “How Marriages shall be Solemnized and Registered as also a Register for Births and Burials.” It first introduced the Registers of Births (not Baptisms). The clergy were no longer to be entrusted with the registration, for an able and honest person called “the parish registers” was to be elected triennially by the parishioners ;² a fee of ¹ “ Weston near Bath—In the first yeare of King James (1603) it was ordered by a Canon of the Church, that all Registers of churches should be written over again in parchment, whereas before, most were written in paper, and so they should continue for ever; whereupon Mr. Doctr. Powell, the Archdeacon of Bathe, commanded me to write this Register Booke againe, as now it is, out of the ould Paper Registers, truly and word for word, without any addition, as far as it did reach to. The ould Register to this day I keepe, and mean to leave it to posterite. Thomas Parkstone, Vicarius de Weston, juxta Bathon.”—Burns’ Parish Registers, p. 24.

² Mr. Burke, in a note p. 15 of his Key to the Ancient Parish Registers of England and Wales, states : “ Where the requisition of this Act was complied with at all, both the date of birth and baptism will usually be found recorded, although in some instances a separate register book was kept during the Cromwellian period.” Judged by this, the Act had no effect on Westbury, although a note of the Act is specially entered in our register, possibly because John Hopkins, the parish clerk, was already, if we may judge from the scribblings on the fly-leaves of our register, acting as registrar. To this the entry on f. 81—which is a “clipped” page—seems to bear witness. The minister of Westbury had omitted to give the entry of his son’s baptism to the “Register,” and so after the entries for the year 1653 we find under the year 1650 :

“ June. Edmund the son of Edmund Rutland Cleark borne the xxix day. July and baptizt the viith of Julij.

■ This child’s name was entered on this side because ye yeare 1650 over agt. it was fulled up before his name was given in to ye register.”

12d. for each marriage entry and 4d. for each entry of birth or death was to be charged; while marriage was to be treated simply as a civil contract, to be solemnised before a Justice of the Peace.

These civil marriages before Justices of the Peace during 1653—1660 were legalised by 12 Car. II, c. 33.

At the Restoration, in 1660, the keeping of the registers reverted to the clergy.

In 1680 a strange Act respecting burial in woollen was passed. (See p. xix.)

Some subsequent legislation of William III had for its object the raising of money, rather than the improvement of registration, to enable war against France to be carried on with vigour; “for in 1694 A.D., 6 and 7 Will. 3, c. 6, certain Rates and Duties” (which were graded according to rank and station in life) “were placed on Marriages, Births and Burials.”¹ The clergy were compelled, under a penalty of £100 for neglect, to take an exact and true account and keep a Register of all persons married, buried, christened or

born in their respective parishes, and the collectors and all persons concerned were to have free access to it without fee or reward. Under this Act, it will be perceived, that the clergy were compelled to act gratuitously, as civil officers, and to collect information of the births of all children born within their parishes, to whatever religious denomination the parent might belong, and quite irrespective of any baptismal rite preformed by them, or by any ministers dissenting from their church. This duty having been found too onerous, and information as to births being unattainable by clergymen, since the parents by concealment eluded payment of the tax, the Act 7 and 8 Will. 3, c. 35 (1695) provided that the parents of every child should, within five days after birth, give notice to the clergyman of the day of the birth of such child, under a penalty of 40s., and the clergyman should, under a like penalty, take an account of and keep a distinct Register of every child born and not christened, for doing which the parents were to pay 6d. to him."¹

Traces of this Act are found in our register in connection with the collection of these impositions, but not until 1699. It evidently had worked very unsatisfactory, since the passing of it in 1695, and so we find the entries of the year 1699 marked R.D. (f. 26): Ex. p R.D.: Exd. per R.D. ye 7th of December, 1704, and (f. 40) Exd. per R.D. Surrogate. The year 1704 is the last year of "examination," for the Act from the first had been so unpopular (and in many places a dead letter) that in 1706 A.D. an Act of Immunity (4 Anne, c. 12) was passed. We suppose R.D. stands for Rural Dean, who seems to have been requested by the clergyman to "check the registers" and so to protect him against the Collector of these taxes, unless the Rural Dean was himself acting as Collector of taxes. No separate book for entries of births seems to have been kept in this parish.

In 1753 was passed a most important Act, aimed principally at the notorious evils connected with the scandalous marriages at the Fleet and May Fair Chapels,² called "An Act for preventing clandestine Marriages" (26 Geo. II, c. 33), the author being Lord Hardwicke, by whose name the Act is generally designated. It ordered an entry of banns and marriages, similar to that now in use; that all marriages should be either by banns or licence, and should take place only in churches and chapels where banns had hitherto been accustomed to be published.

"In 1783 (23 Geo. III, c. 67) a stamp duty of 3d. was imposed on every entry of burials, marriages, births or christenings, to be demanded by each clergyman from the undertaker or parties married, or the parents of a child whose birth or christening was registered; and by the 25 Geo. III, c. 75, the Act was extended to dissenting ministers, whose registration of births or baptisms or burials were so recognised by law. In 1794 this Act was also repealed,"³ for it was intensely unpopular, as it turned the clergy into "revenue collectors," and fell heaviest on the poor ; but it had an existence of two years before it was repealed.¹

In 1812 Sir George Rose's Act (52 Geo. III, 3, c. 146), entitled "An Act for better regulating and preserving Parish and other Registers of Births, Baptisms, Marriages and Burials in England," was passed. Upon this Act the Select Committee of 1833 reported² : "On this extraordinary statute the whole system of Parochial Registration at present depends ; and that it is extraordinary will appear, if reference be made to the title, which includes a Register of Births for which no provision was passed, and which cannot legally be kept ; to the clauses directing the labours of receiving and arranging and indexing all the copies of Registers, and making reports to the Bishop by the Diocesan Registrars, for which no compensation is awarded ; and to the clause for appropriating penalties which are not imposed, and of which the only one directed is transportation, which no informer would like to share nor charity to partake. Connected with the statute law are cases which should not be unknown. Those cases have decided : (1) That entries of births made by clergymen, on the representation of parents, in Registers of Baptisms, are not evidence of birth, and that, as evidence, the entries cannot be read ; (2) that entries in Register Books occasionally made up from memoranda and from day or rough books, used in many parishes, cannot be received in evidence ; and (3) that while copies from Parish Registers may be evidence without the production of the originals, as the books are in the nature of public documents and records, yet copies of dissenters' registers of birth or baptism are not evidence, and that their Registers of burials are no evidence of death."

Still, in spite of its defects, the Act marked a great advance in registration, and remained in force for twenty-five years, as the two efforts at amendment in 1824 and 1830 failed.

In 1833 a Select Committee dealt with the whole question of registration.³ As the result an Act was passed in 1836 (6 and 7 Will. IV c. 86), and amended in 1837, establishing national registration of Births, Marriages and Deaths, with a Registrar-General. Duplicate books were provided for the churches and chapels in which marriages were solemnized.

Since that date all births, marriages and deaths have been transmitted to Somerset House for registration.

To examine our register.

This register, as the opening statement informs us, was "Boughte in the yere of our Lord god 1608 by Richard Haynes gent and Anthony Pruett gent then churchwardens." It looks as if it owed its existence to the order of 1603 (p. x), but why the delay till 1608 does not appear; for not only have we our register, but in the vestry still stands a very handsome safe, with its three locks, in which this register has been safely kept¹ for more than 300 years.²

¹ There is a quaint entry in the register of Whittlesey, St. Mary, Cambs. : " 1873, Oct. In the beginning of this month the nasty three penny Tax took place, and as I expect, from the great number of the poor, and the Rebellious Humour of the parishioners, to collect but few threepences I shall mark those that pay with a V in the Baptisms and Burials. N.B.—As people are most frequently open-hearted on the day of Marriage, I expect most of my parishioners will pay ye 3d. on that occasion. I shall therefore mark those that do not pay with a V. I squeezed 3d. from many a poor wretch ill able to give even so much to Government I am afraid. I think I ought not to urge quite so hard."

The Reverend Christopher Trumper was the minister at Westbury from 29th September, 1597, to January, 1635. In 1608, when the then churchwardens had procured this parchment register (and also the chest), Christopher Trumper proceeded to carefully carry out the Act of 1603: he collects all the entries of baptisms, marriages and burials—probably made in paper registers—from 1559 to 1608, and copies them into this new parchment book in a delightful hand, in the characteristic style of that period, and, as the Act directs, signs each completed page thus: "Per me Christopherum Trumper curatum." But the churchwardens failed to add their signatures as the Act directed.

The entries in registers were not made at the time of the performance of the ceremony, as is done now, but notes were probably made on pieces of paper or in the clergyman's diary, and then the entries were made on the Sunday following or at other times, and in some cases by the parish clerk. Cf. f. 50: "The names vnder written beinge set out of theyr order I thought good to place them as they came to my hands being don Anno Domini 1575." Also f. 83.: "1710. Richard the son of Abraham Collins was baptizt the fifth of August 1711" (error excepted). There are no other entries of baptism for 1711, and the page is a "clipped one," while at f. 96 we find nine entries extending from 1677 to 1689, apparently pointing to the entering of stray memoranda.

As years go on, the advancing age of Christopher Trumper is clearly evident, for his handwriting becomes irregular and cramped; evidence of sickness and of temporary absence from duty is also to be seen, for entries in other handwritings are interspersed. Cf. f. 72: "1635. Robert the sonn of Richard smith and Martha his wife borne the twelhe of January 1634 and having no Minister resident the baptizing thereof was not entered in our Register." Christopher Trumper was buried on January 31st, 1636.

What became of any Pre-Reformation registers, which would have been in the custody of the Deans of Westbury, or of any registers from the date of Cromwell's order in 1538 till 1559 is unknown. Probably they met with the sad fate described below.

As in most other places, the copying of entries meant the elimination of all else but the barest record, and so doubtless many interesting and characteristic touches are lost. Christopher Trumper was no exception to this rule. He found much difficulty—not unusual—in deciphering the handwriting of his predecessors, and often was obliged to give up the struggle.

¹ Sometimes this register was transferred to the house of the minister (cf. "Audit Money Book 1664–1703). "Ye Register of Baptisms, Marriages and Bnrials from 1559 to this time [i.e. Feb. 27, 1764] is kept by the Minister himself, the Rev. Mr. Wm. Ray, at his House in Redland."

² Local tradition has it that this safe was taken from one of the ships of the Armada.

Cf. f. 5, A.D. 1582: "May. George Samison and . . . ye xth day."

"Oct. Richard mericke and Isabell . . . ye xxiiiith day."

Christopher Trumper marks the end of his copying by the following entry: f. 7, "Hereafter followethe ye names of all the weddinges from ye 29th day of September 1597 which was ye fyrste day I Christopher Trumper minister toke ye charge of this cure of Westbury uppon Trim." See also folios 54 and 125.

This register, commencing from 1559 (1 Eliz.), is found sufficient for all entries till almost the end of the reign of Queen Anne, for the entries go on till 1713, showing how small and comparatively stationary was the population of the vast area contained in the ancient parish of Westbury. In 1712 Atkyns, in his History of Gloucestershire, states: "There are one hundred and forty houses in this parish and about six hundred and fifty inhabitants, whereof thirty are freeholders.

"Yearly { Births 23.
 Burials 22."

To-day the population of the district, for which this register existed, would be more than 39,000.¹

It is interesting to note, as giving some idea of the attitude of Westbury people towards their church in 1712, that while Atkyns gives the yearly births as twenty-three, there were actually twenty-two baptisms that year. Atkyns gives the burials in 1712 as twenty-two; our register, in which the entries of burials do not extend until the end of 1712, gives those for the year 1711 as twenty-one.

The course of the laws affecting registration is shown again in our register: f. 19, "A Register of all the marriages since the 29th of September, 1653, according to the Act of Parliament," the date of the first subsequent entry of marriage being December 7th. A like entry of burial appears on f. 85, with the subsequent entry dated Oct. vii.; also on f. 85, when the first subsequent entry of baptism is Oct. vii. The Act referred to displaced the clergy and entrusted the registration to "an able and honest person" elected by the parishioners. (Cf. p. xi, also p. xxvi.)

Who were the churchwardens mentioned on the opening page of our register? Silence reigns as regards "Anthony Pruett gent," but "Richarde Haynes gent" belonged to a family of some importance,² which occupied Southmead Manor. What changes for the worse have taken place in Southmead, once so fair as to deserve its name, judging from some delightful parts still attached to the Manor house and Waterdale! To-day the ancient manor is disfigured by two long rows of cottages of a poor type and laundries, and could be described as the place where Westbury and Clifton send most of their washing to be done, and where an ugly workhouse—a blot on the landscape—has been erected. To recall its former state, Rudder¹ tells us : “Southmead is a manor within the Parish of Westbury, formerly belonging to the nunnery of St. Mary Magdalen,² in Bristol. The prioress granted a long lease of this manor to Thomas Haines, Esq., who obtained a reversion in fee from Henry the Eighth. The manor of Southmead in Westbury, lately belonging to the Magdalen nunnery in Bristol, was granted to Richard Andrews and Thomas Hysley, in trust, 36 H. 8. Richard Haines died seized of Southmead 20 Eliz., and livery was granted to Thomas Haines, son of Richard. The heir of this family sold it to Mr. Barker, ancestor of the late Mr. Barker, of Fairford, of whom it was purchased by Mr. Knight,³ and having since passed thro’ several hands, has been lately sold to Mr. Joshua James, a distiller of Bristol, who is the present lord of the Manor of Southmead, and has made considerable improvements on the mansion house and estate.”

A sad episode in connection with Southmead is entered on f. 131, and gives an insight into the dangers of those days : “An olde man, whose name ys not certainly knowne, who was founde in a water poole in a pounde beloninge to southmeade farm by a glassecarier cominge the same way drowned and murthered” (the order is quaint), “and was buryed by the commandment of the Coroner the xvith daye. His name is John Canons.” From uncertainty as to the name when the entry is commenced, and which is signed “Per me Christopherum Trumper curatum,” certainty is arrived at before it is finished.⁴

Now little remains of the past glory and beauty of Southmead. Most of the manor has been alienated ; a roadway has been driven through the manor house⁵ grounds, and a large house erected upon a portion (which includes the picturesque fishponds) cut off, while the manor house itself has been in recent times almost rebuilt, although some interesting and beautiful parts of the old house and grounds still remain.

Doubtless Southmead Manor was the largest estate in the ancient parish of Westbury.⁶

⁴ Another outrage is recorded in this register : “Anno Domini 1656, May. A young boy unknownen being murthered in the come goinge to the Sea Mills was buried the 2 day.” While in the churchyard there exists to-day a small headstone with the following inscription : “To the memory of Richard Ruddle who was Coachman to Sr. Robert Cann Bart. 21 years, and was Robbed and Murdered by Barnet & Payne Oct. 27th, 1745, aged 52 years.”

⁵ This house is incorrectly known as the Manor House of Westbury, but the Manor of Westbury was attached to the ancient college.

⁶ See Westbury and Bristol Records, vol. ii.

This register is the oldest book now in the possession of Westbury-on-Trym Parish Church, which church dates from about 715 A.D. It is a sad reflection that a church (which had been a monastic church: the first home of the Benedictines in England; a collegiate church and a cathedral church—the place to which Bristol must look for the beginning of its ecclesiastical history) should have been so impoverished and its records and books for the most part destroyed.

Burns states:¹ “Most of the religious houses before the Reformation kept Registers of public as well as private transactions, in books called ‘The Chartulary,’ ‘Leiger Book,’ ‘Necrology or Obituary,’ ‘Register,’ ‘Chronicle,’ &c. The Obituary was ‘a parchment or vellum record of the death of kings, archbishops, bishops, abbots, priests, monks, benefactors, and others, interspersed at times with biographical notes.’ The Register contained its members, revenues, possessions, patrons, their genealogies, names of persons buried in the precincts of the religious house, and of others married there.’ After the burial of any brother of a religious order, a monk was sent with the Beeve or notice of his death to other houses; and when it was entered in their Obituary, he took a copy of the entry, which was called Titulus, and brought it back with him. . . . A great portion of the time of the monks was employed in copying and illuminating the charters, deeds of gift, &c., affecting the religious houses to which they belonged. Many of those which now remain are specimens of correctness, neatness and patience, &c. . . .”

“It would excite surprise that so few, comparatively, of these books are in existence had not John Ball informed us that ‘the Library Books of the Monasteries were reserved by the purchasers of those houses² to serve their jakes, to scour their candlesticks, and to rub their boots; some were sold to grocers, sopesellers, and some sent over the sea to the bookbinders, not in small numbers, but at times whole ships full. A merchant bought two noble libraries for 40s.’ Hence the discoveries in unexpected places on the continent.

“But insane bigotry is responsible for much loss. Any illuminated MSS. with red-letters on the title-page were thrown into the flames, on the ground that they were ‘develish and popish,’ while many MSS. that survived such fanaticism were mutilated during this ‘policy of pillage and plunder,’ for the sake of the gold forming the initial letters, since the devout illuminators had used their plates of gold for this work.”³

This register was divided into three parts; but when a part became full, then the other vacant pages were brought into requisition, hence the entries do not run on consecutively. Cf. f. 102: “This parte of The Booke Being filled with Crissnings wee are To Turne Backward.” See also f. 150.

² In Jesus College, Oxford, is a MS. of the fifteenth century: Olim Collegii S. Trinitatis de Westbury super Trym iuxta Bristoliam ex dono Magistri Willielmi Okeborn nuper decani ibidem, Anno Domini millesimo quingentessimo. Postea Coll. Jesu ex dono Gul. Price rectoris de Penbowe Co. Monmouth, 27 June, 1632.”

Judging from our register, the routine of life must for the most part have gone on with little interruption, even during the Civil War and Commonwealth; for the firing of the college by Prince Rupert on Sunday, July 23rd, 1643, seems to leave no mark upon the records, although the villagers must have deplored this useless act, which deprived them of that stately college built by Bishop Carpenter in A.D. 1447, and of which William Canynges became Dean.¹ It is even doubtful if the Act of 1653 (p. xi), appointing a layman as "registrar," affected Westbury, for if we may judge from the "scribblings on the fly leaves" of our register and also from the handwritings, John Hopkins (whose family had an exceedingly long tenure of the office of parish clerk) made the entries as far back as 1648 (and possibly before that date), and continued to do so until some years after the Restoration in 1660 A.D.

The entries in the register differ from those of to-day, and are not so full. Many names of local interest will be found, borne by worthy descendants of worthy ancestors.²

Social distinctions are evidently valued, and to be taken into consideration. The two churchwardens who purchased this register are described as "gent."³ In the churchyard are two tombstones with the description of "yeoman" inscribed thereon: "Here lyeth the Body of Anne Payton, the wife of Arthur Payton yeoman, who left this Life the last day of January anno 1615." Also "Here lyeth the body of Dorothy the wife of William Dymock of this Parish, yeoman, who died July 18 Anno Domini 1663, aged 74 years."⁴ F. 81: "1650. Ann the daughter of Docter Martin," &c. F. 83: "1710. Thomas and Jane the son and daughter of Thomas Robins, Marriner."

Some of the entries in the register recall incidents, which to-day appear strange.

In 1682 (f. 105) occurs the entry: "October. Petre, the son of Richard Elsworth Knight buried the 19th day." Turning to Westbury "Audit Money Book," 1664—1703, we find this entry: "Receaved of Sr Richard Elsworth the som of £2 10s. for the buring his son in linnen distributed to the poore of this prish the 29th October, 1682." Then follow the names of twenty-eight recipients, while 10s. is entered "To Sherehampton." "By the 30 C. 2, f. 1, c. 3. For the encouragement of woollen manufacturers and

² The writer has not thought it necessary to repeat the biographical notes, given in Westbury and Bristol Records, vols. i. and ii., in connection with individuals and families there mentioned.

³ "As for gentlemen, says sir Thomas Smith, they be made good cheap in this kingdom: for whosoever studieth the laws of the realm, who studieth in the universities, who professeth the liberal sciences, and (to be short) who can live idly, and without manual labour, and will bear the post, charge, and countenance of a gentleman, he should be called master, and should be taken for a gentleman."—Blackstone's Commentaries, A.D. 1809, vol. i. p. 405. But at the time of our register the description had not become so common, and was of some value. See f. 6: "Nicholas Blake gent. and Anne Reede, gent." Also f. 12: "ffraunces James and Elizabethe Browne gent," &c.

⁴ Blackstone states: "A yeoman is he that hath free land of forty shillings by the year, who was antiently thereby qualified to serve on juries, vote for knights of the shire, and do any other act, where the law requires one that is probus et legalis homo." Vol. i. p. 406. One shilling per acre was a fair rent for land in the reign of Henry VIII.

prevention of the exportation of money for the importing of linen, it is enacted that no corpse of any person shall be buried in any shirt shift sheet or shroud or anything whatsoever made or mingled with flax hemp silk hair gold or silver, or in any stuff or thing, other than what is made of sheep's wool only ; on pain of £5." ¹ It was further required that an affidavit should be made, not later than eight days after the interment, that this law had been obeyed : ² also that the Act should be read in church on the first Sunday after St. Bartholomew's Day for the next seven years, subsequent to the passing of the Act. But although this Act was not repealed until 1814, its unpopularity caused it to fall into abeyance long before that date. As it was directed that " half of which forfeiture shall be to the poor of the parish where the party shall be buried, and half to him that shall sue for the same," it would seem that either an information was laid against Sir Richard Elsworth, or, more probably, that he himself made the required declaration and paid to the churchwardens the portion assigned to the poor.

At the foot of the above-mentioned entry in the Audit Money Book appears : " More Received of Sr Richard Ellsworth 20s. for the consent of the pish that the Coat of Armor and the Pendants wch were for the funerall of his son and set up in the Church over the monument of Sr Richard Hill are there to Remayne Distributed to the poore of Westbury and Stoak bishop the 15th of December 1682." This entry gives a possible explanation, which so many have hitherto sought in vain, of the helmet still hanging in the south-east chapel of our parish church. At the partial restoration (internal) of the church in 1852 the tomb of Sir Richard Hill was moved ³ from the northeast chapel to make room for an organ, together with the helmet in question. The rest of "the Armor and the Pendants," the usual trappings for the funeral of a knight or his eldest son, had evidently disappeared at that time, or were not thought worth preserving by the then authorities, who did many strange and arbitrary things.¹

But it is more probable that this helmet is the one set up at the funeral of Sir Richard Elsworth himself. Our register contains the entry: "Anno Domini 1686. Sr Richard Elsworth Knight was buried ye 26 of February," and turning to the Audit Money Book we find: "The Gift of Richard Elsworth Esqr Barester at law to ye poor of Westbury and Stoak is 40s. in consideracon of the setting up in ye church and there alwayes to remayne over the monument of Sr Richard Hill two Banners for A Knight helmet and Crest wch were for ye intermt there of his ffather Sr Richard Elsworth late of the City of Bristol Knight wch sd 40s. was ye 13th day of May 1687 distributed as followeth" (here follow the thirty names of recipients). As this helmet still hangs under a crest, it seems more probable that it is connected with the father rather than with the son.

Behind the font, at the west end of the nave of the church, we find: "Under this marble stone lies interred ye body of Sr Richard Ellsworth late of the City of Bristol Knt who departed this life the 21st day of February, Anno Dom 1686, Aetatis . . .".

Latimer, in his Annals of Bristol, XVIIth Century, gives an interesting account of Richard Elsworth's endeavours in 1659, in Bristol and London, to overthrow the Government and to restore the monarchy, and also of his pamphlets (p. 290-1). In 1660 he endeavoured to oust the Puritans, including Mayor Creswick, from the Council (p. 296). In the same year, "by dint of strenuous efforts, Ellsworth obtained one of the offices of Customer in Bristol, being apparently directed to keep the Government informed upon local political movements. Later on he got a petty office in the King's household, and was dubbed a knight. He was afterwards occasionally employed as an agent for furthering Bristol business at Court, for which he appears to have been largely rewarded" (pp. 299-300). During the autumn he was engaged, under a commission from the Government, in summoning all the inhabitants over sixteen years of age, and commanding them to take the oath of allegiance and supremacy. In a letter to Secretary Nicholas, dated November 21st, he complains that he and his friends are much obstructed by Quakers and Anabaptists (whose principles forbade the taking of oaths). . . . He ends by asking for power to imprison all who refuse to swear. "These monsters," he says in a second letter to the same effect, "are more numerous in Bristol than in all the West of England, and hold meetings of 1,000 or 1,200, to the great alarm of the city." His statements illustrate the treatment to which Nonconformists generally were subjected, though their persecution was then only beginning. Elsworth's policy having been approved by the Government, before the end of the year 4,000 Quakers were in gaol throughout the kingdom" (p. 300). In 1664 he denounced the Mayor and the Town Clerk for disaffection (p. 328), and in 1667 he impeaches to Secretary Williamson the honesty of Sir John Knight (pp. 344-5). "In the State Papers of April (1668) is a proposal made to the Government by Richard Ellsworth, offering to prosecute a Bill in Parliament for suppressing deceits in making of cloth, as petitioned for, he alleged, by the merchants of Bristol. In compensation for this service, in promoting which, he asserted, he had travelled 600 miles and spent a year's labour, he modestly requested the gift of three blank warrants for the creation of baronetcies, to be sold at his discretion. His proposal was not entertained. As a matter of fact, his repeated journeys to London were due to his being engaged as agent by the Merchant Venturers in their suit for a new charter, for which he was no doubt bountifully rewarded by his employers. He renewed his application to the Ministry in 1670, but was again rebuffed. Perhaps to silence him, he received the honour of knighthood" (pp. 347-8). In 1677 Sir R. Ellsworth unsuccessfully delated Sir Robert Cann, who was standing for election to Parliament, on the ground of disloyalty. Sir Robert was eventually elected without opposition (p. 384).

The mention above of Sir Richard Hill recalls the following entry in our register (f. 138) :—

"Burienges. Anno Domini 1627 Anno
 Reg. Caroli Ang. Sco. ffranc et Hib. Regis tertio
 June Sr Richard Hill Knighte Departed this life the 29th daye of Maye and was buried the xiiiith Day of June superadicto."

Sir Richard Hill lived at Redland Court (now the Redland Girls' High School), which subsequently passed into the possession of John Cousins, who built and endowed that unique little chapel, situate at Redland Green. The present populous residential district of Redland was at that time (and remained so for many years) a sparsely-inhabited hamlet of Westbury Parish, so those who were men of means there, were benefactors to Westbury parish. In the south chapel of the parish church is erected a fine tomb (removed from the north chapel, as above stated) with an effigy of a knight in armour ; it is life-size and coloured. The inscription runs :—

"Hereunder lieth the bodie interred of Sir Richard Hill of Redland Court in this Parish, Knight, who deceased the 29 day of May in ye yeare of our Lord
 God 1627, aged 70 years."

On the benefaction board in the west porch appears "Sr Richard Hill gave to ye Poor of this Parish 20*l* the profit of it paid yearly to the Poor for ever."

On f. 110 appears the entry of the burial of the patron of the living of Westbury : "1691. Sur ffrancise ffane Knight was buried April ye 8th."

And it recalls the fact that the Fane family and the Earls of Westmorland were patrons for a long time, and were much attached to the place.¹

The following entry, "Buryenges. Anno Domini 1582. Eliz. 24. Marche. Robert Arden of Cote ye iid day," records the death of a great benefactor of Westbury poor, and to whom they are to this day greatly indebted, as his benefaction still forms the bulk of the endowment for the poor of the Westbury consolidated charities.²

On f. 109 occurs the entry: "Mr. Giles Hungerford buried the 24th day of August 1689."

Rudder³ states: "In the chancel, upon a handsome marble monument, it is thus written: Near this place lyeth the Body of Giles Hungerford, son and Heir of Giles Hungerford, late of Willow in the County of Somerset, Esqr.; descended from the Honble House of the Hungerfords of Farley Castle in the said County. He married Martha, eldest daughter of John Jacob of Norton in the County of Wilts, Esq. by whom he had Issue only this son, who died the twenty-third day of August, in the One and twentieth year of his age, Anno Domini 1689."

So flattery creeps into official records, for the entry is Mr. Giles Hungerford. Again, among the marriage entries, "A.D. 1649, Aprell: Mr. Deane and Hester Wright married the viith. August: Mr. Chant and Hester Gold married the xxiiith."

The monument above mentioned is now in the west end of the north aisle. In that aisle exists a slab in reference to Martha, the wife, with a sad and unusual inscription:—

"Near this place resteth the body of Martha, eldest daughter of John Jacob late of Norton in ye county of Wilts, who in the 16th year of her age, of our Lord 1666, was by him given in marriage to Giles Hungerford of Wellas in the county of Somerset Esq., who in ye year 1668 died, left her enesint with Giles, who lies near her buried. In 1681 she was married to John, eldest son of Sr John Knight late of Temple Street in ye City of Bristol, who in ye year 1684 departed this life by whom she had the son who caused this monument to be erected to her memory who approved herself ye best of parents and of friends, who always did her duty to God and her neighbour, lived beloved and died ye 15th day of August 1717 by all lamented."

¹ See Westbury and Bristol Records, vol. i. The following additional notes, made by the late F. W. Savage, who was churchwarden in 1851, and kindly lent to the writer by Lieut.-Colonel Heyworth-Savage, will be of interest: "Of the Fane Family, Patrons of the Living of Westbury for more than 150 years. The two first Earls of Westmorland lie in a vault on the North side of the Chancel of Westbury Ch. When the Chh was restored in 1851 the vault was opened on account of the alteration made in the levels of the floor of the Chh. There were several coffins in the vault—two of them covered with crimson velvet with coronets resting on cushions of the same placed on them. A monumental slab of Henry Fane removed from above in the chancel to the crypt [i.e. Bishop Carpenter's Chapel] below, when the Church was restored, occupies nearly the same position as it did above: date on it 22 Dec. 1726. Thomas, Earl of Westmorland 2 Dec. 1771. John, Earl of Westmorland May 3 1774."

² The history of this charity the writer hopes to give when dealing with the Audit Money Book.

³ Hist. of Glos., 1779 A.D., p. 803.

Martha Jacob was first married at the early age of sixteen years, so we gather from her tombstone. It will be noticed that, careful as are the entries of marriages, since from the consideration of property and succession they were of more importance, no ages of the contracting parties are entered, and it is very rare to find mention of age in old registers. In the Middle Ages espousals could be made at the age of seven years, actual marriage at twelve for a female and fourteen for a male, who were held capable of giving a valid consent. But 21 Geo. II, c. 33, ordered twenty-one years to be the age of consent, although parents and guardians could permit marriages at the earlier ages.

The prohibited season for marriages which were observed, judging from our register, have been given in various poetical and prose forms. Bishop Cosin wrote :—

“ By the ecclesiastical laws of this realm, there be some times in the year wherein Marriages are not usually solemnized :

from Advent Septuagesima Rogation	} Sunday until	{ 8 days after Epiphany 8 days after Easter Trinity Sunday.
--	----------------	---

On f. 107 is the entry, “ 1686. William the son of Mr. William Martin was buried the 10th day of May,” to which a slab in the floor of the south chapel refers, together with the record of his father :—

“ Here lyeth the body of Wm Martin of Redland Court, gent, who departed this life the 13th day of Jany 171—aged nigh 60 years ; also Here lyeth ye body of Willm Nixon, who died the 8th of May 1686 aged 18 months.”

On f. 41 is the entry, “ A.D. 1707. Mrs. Katherine Jackson buried 30th June,” to which a slab in the floor of the south-east chapel refers :—

“ Here lyeth the body of Katherine, the wife of Joseph Jackson of Sneed Park Esqr, obijit 28th of June 1707 aged near 40 years.”

It will be noticed that both these entries employ the terms of “ Mr.” and “ Mrs.”

The entry on f. 130 is an interesting one : “ A.D. 1610. Rose Large wydowe bu ye iiide day.”

On the east wall of the south chapel is “ a quaint coloured renaissance monument with a kneeling figure of a lady, also coloured, bearing the date 1610. The effigy is mutilated.”

Bigland gives the inscription (which is now in parts illegible) :—

“ To the eternall Memorye of his dear Mother M. Rose Large Widdow, and Daughter to William Cooke of Hampshire who having lived virtuosly LXXX years, departed most holy to God August xxix
 A. Dni 1610.”

"Pietatis ergo . . . filius posuit" is still legible at the foot of the monument, which originally was placed in the North Chapel.

This register is of great interest as furnishing the names of the ministers of Westbury :—

F. 113 : "Anno Domini 1560. Eliz. 2do. Maie Roger Dunster prieste b ye iid daye." This entry has usually been considered to have reference to the priest who had the charge of the church after the dissolution of the college in 1554.

F. 118 : "Buryenges. Anno Domini 1575. Eliz. 17m.
Auguste, Humfrey Brickdale ye xxiii day mynister here."¹

F. 123 : "Anno Domini 1592. Eliz. 34th.
ffebruary. John Bantynge mynister here ye xxvth day."

F. 125 : "Anno Domini 1597. Eliz. 39no.
September. Hughe Kinge mynister here was buried ye xvith day."

F. 142 : "Buringes. Anno Domini 1635.
January. Christopher Trumpeter [sic] minister of this parish buried the xxxi day."

F. 156 : "Anno Domini 1660.
Desember. Edmund Rutland minister buried the first day."

The sad life of the Rutlands is given in Westbury and Bristol Records, vol. i. Both this minister and his wife were devoted to Westbury. The benefaction Board states : "Mr. Edmund Rutland late minister of this Psh gave 5 pounds to be distributed in lots for ever."

Mrs. Rutland's burial is thus recorded :—

F. 107 : "Anno Domini 1686.
Mrs. Kathiren Ruttlun was buried April 29th."

The Benefaction Board gives the following record :—

"1686. Mrs Katharine Rutland, wid. Relict of Mr. Edmond Rutland sometime Minister of this Prish, died, gave £50 ye Interest thereof to be payd yearly for ever unto A Minister who should Preach six sermons on six certaine dayes vigt St Thomas day, New years day, Twelfth day, Good Friday, Holy Thursday, and All Ss day.

"The said Mrs Rutland gave also £10 ye Interest thereof to be distributed amongst the poore of this Parish on Good Friday yearly for ever."

It looks as though evil days had fallen upon the church and parish which she loved so well, and which her husband had served so faithfully, judging from the inscription on his tombstone :—

¹ Corrigendum in Westbury and Bristol Records, vol. i.: for 1579 read 1575.

" Could . . . vault speak 'twould tell you
 Who and what person lodged here.
 Its this Churches Pastor, who nigh thirtie years
 Twice everie Sabbath in it did appear,
 Instructing how to live and so to die
 Both which Himself did verify,
 Whilst you live soe Christ will be
 In death your life as now to me."

Edmund Rutland had been succeeded by one John Goldenham, whose name occurs in 1679 and 1690 in parochial documents. He was also Vicar of Almondsbury 1679-90, Westbury and Almondsbury being held together. (See Archbishop Sancroft's MSS.¹) John Goldenham purchased in 1678 the next presentation but one to Henbury Vicarage. So it looks as though the high standard of duty maintained by Mrs. Rutland's husband was no longer maintained, and therefore her benefactions take the above-stated form.²

Mention is also made of that useful parochial official, the parish clerk.

F. 54, 1596 A.D.: " November. Wylliam ye son of Humfrey Evans clarke ye xij day."

F. 137, 1626 A.D.: " November. Roberte Weare parishe clarke bu ye xxiiii daye."

Also f. 106, 1684 A.D.: " Thomas Hopkins was buried the 29th of December being Clarek of this Parish."

We wonder if he met the requirements of Archbishop Grindal: " That he be obedient to the parson, Vicar and curate, especially in the time of celebration of Divine Service or of Sacraments, or in any preparation thereunto; and that he be able also to read the first lesson, the Epistle, and the psalms, with answers to the suffrages, as is used . . . and also that he endeavour himself to teach young children to read, if he be able so to do."³ What delightful old-world pictures gather around the parish clerk! John Hopkins, our parish clerk in 1653, had some feeble sense of humour, if we may judge from his "scribblings" on the fly-leaves of this register. He wrote, " John Hopkins, his Booke, amen 1653. John Hotkotkines as-quire!"

Ministers of the tything of Shirehampton are mentioned: F. 48, " Mr. Peeter," and f. 130, " John Bryce Clarke."

The following entry sets on a train of thought:—

F. 140: " Arthur Alwoode, Reader at Hampton in A.D. 1633."

² Latimer states: " It would appear that sermons were not generally preached on Sundays in city churches. Some clergymen held two livings, and could not afford to keep curates, and others contented themselves with a liturgical service."—Annals of Bristol, XVII Century, p. 23.

³ " The Parish Clerk and his right to read the Liturgical Epistle," by Cuthbert Atchley, L.R.C.P., M.R.C.S., in Alcuin Club Tracts.

Also the following entry, but in a sad vein :—

F. 126 : “ Buryenges. Anno Domini 1598. Eliz. 40mo.
John Westbury minister passenger ye xii day.”

And particularly so, since it comes after two such entries of burials as the following :—

“ January. Two straunge boyes passengers ye vth day.
Two other children passengers ye x day.”

The lot of the “strange poor”—a contrast to the “village” poor—was indeed a hard one, for they felt to the full the dissolution of the monasteries, and continued to do so for many years.¹ Some entries in this register even now bring tears to the eyes and make one sad. There was no resting-place for the “strange poor,” excepting in the grave! So there constantly appear such descriptions as “stranger, passenger, perigrinus, beggar, a poor child unknown, a poor woman unknown” (to find rest in a nameless grave, f. 94), “a poore walking women, paupera, a poor Irishe child unknown,” and so on. Whatever may be the faults of to-day, it is a cause of thankfulness that the lot of the poor has been vastly improved.

Judging from the register, the standard of morality obtaining left something to be desired, and perhaps it was the desire to raise the tone of the village which induced the ministers to make entries, which now read harshly, e.g. base born, &c. (it may be that the reason was that the children might not become chargeable to the parish), while it stands to their credit to make such entries as “the supposed daughter of, the imputed son of,” giving the putative father’s name. (Cf. 1590 A.D.: “Anne ye daughter of Richard Hylsey ye xth day borne of Mary Crosse.” Also see f. 59 and 60.) It is easy to read into such entries much pastoral duty and earnest but ineffectual admonitions. Still the wish cannot be withheld that the old motto was not followed, “Omnis tamen infamia vitetur occasio,” and such entries, together with the following (if we read it aright), “1589. January. Legne ye daughter of legne and lowde wilshew,” had been omitted.

On f. 48 occurs the following entry: “These following were bap. at Sherehampton by on Mr. Peeter mynister there in the tyme of the plague at Westbury Anno 1575.” Westbury was indeed a stricken place, as a study of our register proves, and shared to the full and during the many years² the terrible and recurring visitation of Bristol, which was afflicted in the same way as London and many other places. Latimer states: “The year 1575 was marked by a terrible visitation of plague, which broke out immediately after the great fair in July, and continued its ravages for six months. Contemporary annalists assert that the victims numbered upwards of 1,900, but the figures are probably much exaggerated. Four ex-mayors, three of whom were aldermen, were however carried off. The virulence of epidemics in Bristol, as in other towns, was doubtless largely attributable to the unhealthy supply of water, chiefly drawn from wells in close proximity to the parochial burial-grounds, most of which were in crowded localities limited in area, and reeking with putridity. The quay pipe was supplied from an abundant spring, the so-called boiling well at Ashley ; but a large portion of the long conduit was unprotected, and the chamberlain was incessantly called upon to remove the obstructions in covered pipes, caused by the bodies of dead cats. Thus in December, 1574, he enters : ‘ Paid for taking three cats out of the key pipe, where one was two yards long, five days, 5s. 6d.’ The pestilence caused on this occasion a general prostration of local trade.”¹

² See Latimer’s Annals of Bristol, XVI and XVII Century.

The entry of burial in our register on f. 128 is a very sad one, “ A.D. 1604. April. Thomas Haynes gent. ye xxxiiith day,” for turning to Bigland we find the following entry of a tombstone (now no longer in existence) :—

“ Here lieth the Body of Thomas Haines, Gent, who deceased 23 day of April in the year of our Lord 1604.”

The death, followed by a hurried burial on the next day, of a gentleman of position points to that awful plague.

Turning to Latimer, we find : “ Bristolians had, in fact, a subject of much greater gravity to consider than the coming of a Scottish king. The plague made its appearance in London during the spring (1603), and it was only too likely to spread westward. In June the Common Council issued an order that no Londoner should send wares to the great summer fair, or be admitted to lodge in the city, unless he could produce a certificate from the Lord Mayor that his house had been free from infection during the previous six weeks. The goods of such certified persons were to be thoroughly aired for some days at a place outside Lawford’s Gate, at the charge of the owners. In spite of precautions, the pestilence broke out in Marsh Street even before the fair, and a committee was appointed to dispose of infected persons and to bury the dead, the inhabitants being taxed to meet the outlay, and the defaulters being threatened with imprisonment. The malady having wrought unprecedented havoc, the Corporation in September ordered every wealthy burgess to be taxed to the value of a royal subsidy, other householders being rated at one-tenth of their rental for the relief of suffering families. This order was repeated in May, 1604, and the Privy Council soon afterwards issued a proclamation forbidding Londoners to resort to the fair. The scourge did not disappear until February, 1605. A chronicle in the Council House states that the total number of deaths during this visitation amounted to 2,956, probably representing one-fourth of the population.” In this misery Westbury, in which many Bristol citizens resided then, as now, had its full share, as a careful study of this register for the years when the plague was raging in the adjacent city of Bristol will readily prove.

The comparison of this register with a modern one is interesting, as showing the advance in registration. The entries of marriages were, as before mentioned, always most carefully, if not so fully, made, and almost equally so were those of burials ; but in the entries of baptisms it is somewhat startling, until reflection ensues, to find the mother's name often omitted. Cf. f. 28 : " 1693. Thomas, the son of Mr. Thomas Cann was baptized Twenty Third of January."

The description of "famulus" (f. 135), "famula" (f. 136) and "servus" (f. 138) give an insight into the mind of the people of those times.

To whom does the following entry refer :—

F. 159 : " 1669. John Merefild buried the iii day of Aprell" ?

Was he of that family recalled by the folk-song, "The Marigold" ?

Verse 4.

" Now if you 'd know our goodly ship,
And know our Captain's name ;
Sir Thomas Merrifeld captain was
Of the " Marigold " ship of fame.
A gallant man, Sir Thomas was
Of famous Bristow town.
A gallant crew were we aboard,
We gained us great renown."

Several ships called Marigold belonged to Bristol, but nothing else is known of Sir Thomas Merrifield.

The calendar of our register is interesting. Generally the Christian year, from A.D. 1153 to 1750-1, ran from the Feast of the Annunciation (March 25th) to the following March 24th ; but we find, on turning to our register, that the year was made to commence on January 1st and ran to December 31st from A.D. 1559 to 1576, but in 1577 the usual style is adopted. (Cf. f. 146, also f. 4 and f. 48.) The reformation of the calendar had occupied the attention of the Venerable Bede in A.D. 730, and Roger Bacon had written a treatise, De Reformatione Calendarii. Still errors in the calendar went on with increasing inconvenience, while the progress of astronomical knowledge emphasised them ; so in 1474 Pope Sextus IV invited the assistance of the celebrated astronomer Regiomontanus, but the death of this scholar caused a postponement. Several treatises by various writers followed, and in March, 1582, Pope Gregory XIII ordered the Gregorian calendar, arranged by Aloysius Lilius (commonly called the new style), to be adopted, and this was done in almost all Christian countries. But nothing emanating from Rome could find acceptance in England during Elizabeth's reign, and so the alteration of style in this land was delayed by popular prejudice. But the inconvenience of this separation from the style adopted generally in Europe was keenly felt, and so in 1751 the new style was ordered by Parliament to be adopted in all public and legal transactions. So the incumbents of Westbury, A.D. 1559-76, were evidently interested in the discussion which was going on, and were evidently in advance of their times ; they may even have been interested in astronomical studies. But what led to " the fall from grace " in 1577 does not appear.

This register is made of vellum; it measures 14 in. by 7 in., and was fastened originally with leather ties, but which have been broken off. The various handwritings form a distinctive study of character in themselves. The book is in a good state of preservation, although some of the pages are very discoloured, while the fly-leaves have undergone the inevitable "clipping" by persons requiring pieces of vellum.

It is interesting to note that the registers of Westbury Church for 352 years, i.e. from A.D. 1559 to the present time, are complete and in a good state of preservation.

Valuable as this register is for the interesting information it contains, it also has additional value for those who wish to trace family history and connections.

In conclusion, the writer must express his deep gratitude to Mr. Cuthbert Atchley, M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P., for much valued help in connection with the transcription of this register, and also to Miss Violet C. Home, Somerville College, Oxford, for the compilation of the index.

SCRIBBLINGS ON THE FLY-LEAVES.

In this Register, eight pages at the commencement and ten at the end were left blank; they were so "clipped" and scribbled upon, that they could not be afterwards used.
